

BCCI-3: Conversation and Connections: Climate Justice and Health Equity in Northern British Columbia
Meet & Greet!

Friday October 01, 2021 at 12-1pm

At UNBC, we will host a meet and greet session to generate shared dialogue on practice, pedagogy, and applied learning and cultivating capacities as change makers. We will gather over lunch to build connections, share ongoing work, and support future collaborations across northern British Columbia and beyond.

Bring your lunch and passion for climate change and equity research!

This lunchtime event will be held online and in person (adhering to COVID-19 protocols on campus).

More about BCCI-3:

This event is hosted as part of the BC Coalition Institute (BCCI-3) two-day free online Symposium (See <https://bcccoalitioninstitute.com/>). BC Coalition Institutes bring together universities and health authorities in a learning community focused on building equity-centred capacity to connect knowledge with action. The concept involves cultivating a vibrant community of practice, connecting people, ideas, and action for equity. In 2021, the BCCI-3 is focused on “Climate Justice: Learning from the Pandemic”. Further information on the symposium, including registration, can be found here:
